

What I enjoyed at Elite Summer Camp

Ethan Yang,

Each camp has its advantages and disadvantages. But which summer camp has nearly 1000 campers, so awesome that even people that live 2 hours away from it go there, and have some of the best teachers in the city? Of course, it's Elite Summer Camp! That's why I want to share to you 3 things I've enjoyed here.

First of all, the teachers are very inspiring. Every single teacher here is nice and strict at the same time. Thanks to them, your brain gets charged with clusters of knowledge every single day. Even though some teachers give out quite a bit of homework, I think it helps you to remember what the teachers taught. The way they teach is very intelligent and effective.

Second of all, there are many fun activities here. Most of the time at the camp is spent learning and doing exams in certain classes, but the tremendously nice principal added a few activities, such as swimming and dance. That way we can move, exercise, and keep our bodies healthy. Speaking of health, there is a cafeteria here with very healthy dishes and drinks like chicken wraps and oolong tea (of course, they also serve junk food.) If you want Chinese food and don't want to eat at the cafeteria, Elite Summer Camp has a hot lunch order form with seven delicious Chinese meals, such as Chow Mein and Black Pepper Tofu. There are also microwaves to heat up food from home.

Finally, the yard is GIGANTIC. What I love is that there is a big soccer field and a basketball net. The camp also supplies balls, from volleyballs to basketballs. There is a small forest with many snails near the basketball net, in which I like to play in. Want to picnic, do your homework or even play video games outside? No problem! There are quite a few picnic tables to sit on.

After all, it's not a surprise that Elite Summer Camp is so popular. Did you know that over 650 campers made it to the top high schools in Quebec? These are the things I enjoyed here, at Elite Summer Camp.
